Austin Things to Do

Austin Live Music Crawl

Austin has over 270 live music venues, many of which are outside of downtown and tucked into neighborhoods. Skip cover bands and jam out to authentic live music all over the city. Along the way, you'll enjoy chats about Austin live music history, get the latest scoop on the current music scene, and see iconic venues and new clubs, all while getting an overview of the city. These live music crawls are led by a local musician. Three hours, 2-3 venues, and still home by 10 or 11 pm.

Visit austindetours.com/live-music-crawl for more details.

Esther's Follies on 6th Street

Often topping the lists of "Must-See" Austin experiences for tourists and locals alike, Esther's provides a one-of-a-kind theatrical show. The back wall of the theater is wall-to-wall windows facing the infamous 6th St., allowing the stage performers to play with (and sometimes poke fun at) the wild party outside. Nowhere else in Austin can you get so close to the action from the comfort of your theater chair. Just like Saturday Night Live, cast members and show writers meet weekly to pitch new sketch and song ideas based on world events, political news, entertainment scandals and local news. Even Ray Anderson, the featured magician, rotates in new exciting magic illusions to keep audiences mystified.

Visit esthersfollies.com for show times.

Bike Tours with ATX Locals

Austin is a city full of hidden gems - urban trails wind through the back roads of the city and through park lands, in which lie scenic vistas, outdoor art and interesting architecture. Mike's Bike Tours are designed to showcase Austin's best nature, art and history. Many tours are friendly to riders of all skill levels, but they also offer more technical tours for advanced riders. Tours can last between 2-4 hours, ranging from a downtown Lady Bird Lake tour to Eastside Brews Cruise.
