* The housing conferences in 1946 and 1948 were Home Economics Teachers and Administrators in the North Central States. From 1957 to 1965, professionals interested in strengthening housing in home economics met for annual conferences. In 1965, the organization became the American Association of Housing Educators (AAHE). In 2002, the association changed its name to Housing Education and Research Association (HERA). The first HERA conference was in 2003. Learn more about the organization in the Housing and Society article written by Joseph L. Wysocki
